Beth Hart, By Her

She got a poet's spirit she bums among the clouds she never stops believing she only dreams out loud there's a jackpot in the dresser she's fallen in the bath & amp; if you need to kiss her don't forget your stash 'cause she gives it away & amp; you're fascinated by her & amp; she does it again with simple & amp; brilliant desire & amp; she gives it away & amp; you're fascinated by ... by her - she wears a million colors there's rainbows on her soles she got a sign above her that says I'm never growin' old you're askin' her to dance now she spins a solid white light she gonna make love to you today today & amp; every night & amp; she gives it away & amp; you're fascinated by her then she does it again with simple & amp; brilliant desire & amp; she gives it away & you're fascinated by by her by her she may be waiting 'round the comer of your mind but still you know she's there you can feel her inside so don't forget about the reasons that brought you her 'cause she's a miracle.
