

Birdy, Evergreen

Nobody knows my love
Nobody knows my love
In the gods, we hide away
Nobody ever looks up
Like the heavy summer heats
I don't see past my love
He wakes me quietly
With a kiss that lingers like evergreen
We drift so sweet
With his eyes, he speaks to me silently

Nobody knows my love
Nobody knows but us
There's a world out there
That would keep us apart
Let's stay here where
We're safe in the dark
Nobody knows my love
For how long we've been this way
And ever if it rains
My love, there'll be hurricanes
