Birdy, Loneliness

It's getting hard to hide This tained lullaby I am taking in my sleep The sky is falling down It's getting closer now It's getting hard to breathe

Your hold has kept my heart in chains For so long I've waited fro it to break

Something in the air's got me feeling you're here again And i was missing the dark but now you're near again Watching the clock hand fall asleep on us I've been losing my mind in these sweet dreams of loniless I've been losing my mind in these sweet dreams

My mind hes been so loud With no way to break out With nowhere to be still It's time to cut these ties And watch our shadows fly Let the dark flood in

Your hold has kept my heart in chains For so long I've waited fro it to break

Something in the air's got me feeling you're here again And i was missing the dark but now you're near again Watching the clock hand fall asleep on us I've been losing my mind in these sweet dreams of loniless I've been losing my mind in these sweet dreams

I am not afraid
To be alone
To feel a space
To know you're gone
To lose control
If nothing more
To feel the burn

Something in the air's got me feeling you're here again And i was missing the dark but now you're near again Watching the clock hand fall asleep on us I've been losing my mind in these sweet dreams of loniless I've been losing my mind in these sweet dreams