

Birdy, Raincatchers

Baring my soul to you
And here comes the rain again
Once the weight of the world was a feather
Sweet innocence

There is a dusty room
Kept for a friend
You
threw the windows to the world wide open
When will I see you again?

We used to be Raincatchers
And we couldn't see what we were running from
And you made me feel like
Nothing really matters

Here in my dreams
We're
raincatchers
Come back to me
Like it was before
You made me feel like
Nothing really matters
Nothing really matters

If we let this run
Caught on a river
Everything that we left unspoken
Will never be said

And you forgot
(Miss you always)
But I remember
(I remember)

We used to be Raincatchers
And we couldn't see what we were running from
And you made me feel like
Nothing really matters

Here in my dreams
We're Raincatchers
Come back to me
Like it was before
You made me feel like
Nothing really matters
Nothing really matters

If I called out
Would you listen?
The shaking ground
Do you feel it?
If I called out
Would you listen?
The shaking ground
Would you feel it?

Far away
I remember

We used to be

Raincatchers□
And we couldn't see what we were running from□
And you made me feel like□
Nothing really matters□

Where have you been Raincatcher
Come back to me
Like it was before□
You made me feel like□
Nothing really matters□
Nothing really matters
