Bjork, Dull Flame Of Desire

I love your eyes, my dear Their splendid sparkling fire

When suddenly you raise them so To cast a swift embracing glance

Like lightning flashing in the sky But there's a charm that is greater still

When my love's eyes are lowered When all is fired by passion's kiss

And through the downcast lashes I see the dull flame of desire [X2]