

Black Light Burns, The Mark

I have a mark on me
Like a brand on my skin
That only I can see

I don't know what it means
I get caught up in dreams
I feel like running away
Yeah, so let's run away

Sometimes you're gonna have to get lost
If you're ever gonna find your way back,
To where you came from
And if we go there,
They'll just want us to bleed
Yeah, but it's never enough,
It's never enough,
It's never enough

So cut out the heart
And watch the world burn down
Let's tear it apart,
Let's leave a mark,
Let's leave a mark

And I followed the footprints,
Surrounding the snow
I ended up doing circles,
And came back home

Where I started to find,
That everything was a sign
And all that mattered was,
That this fucking fire is mine

Sometimes you're gonna have to die
If you're ever gonna find your way back,
To where your life is
If hate is a fist,
And love is a flame,
I'm gonna smash it and burn it,
'Cause it's all the same

So cut out the heart
And watch the world burn down
Let's tear it apart,
Let's leave a mark,
Let's leave a mark

It keeps bleeding and bleeding,
It's never enough
It's a lust you combust,
And it continues to swell

And I tried, yes I tried
To ignore this scar
But it keeps burning to me
And it won't let me breathe

x2:
So cut out the heart
And watch the world burn down
Let's tear it apart,
Let's leave a mark,
Let's leave a mark

