

Bobby Goldsboro, Little Things

SEE THE FUNNY LITTLE CLOWN

Bobby Goldsboro

See the funny little clown

See him laughing as you walk by,

Everybody thinks he's happy

Cause you never see a tear in his eye.

No one knows he's crying,

No one knows he's dying on the inside

Cause he's laughing on the outside, mm,

No one knows, no one knows.

See the funny little clown, he's hiding behind a smile.

They all think he's laughing

But I know he's really crying all the while.

How his heart is aching, how his heart is breaking on the inside,

But he keeps laughing on the outside, mm,

No one knows, no one knows.

This funny little clown you never used to see him around

Without his girl beside him to love and guide him,

Until one day his girl just walked away

And to this very day he says he never loved her anyway,

Mm, and no one knows except for me

Because you see I'm that funny little clown.