Born Of Osiris, Empires Erased

This isn't over yet and we've only just begun to create this I thought I lost it all Not wrapped between the sheets Trust in me, you will see Believe in me and let the others have their way with you Your life forgotten, empires erased Trust in me, you will see this victory We stop defeat, this offering it must remain Catastrophe in this city, on this day catastrophe It's not over yet There's something left for the taking Forces of nature ruler and judge when the heaves open up Give me a reaction Give it all up This is the only way we can obey This is something that we will never win Hope for defeat