

Boyz II Men, You Are My Everything

...you are my everything...

i've been thinking of a way to phrase it seem to never find the words to say it but it's true to say i've been occupied by other things (i've been occupied by other things) how could I think that you wouldn't notice (you wouldn't notice) the absence of our closeness realizing now
I will never let it happen again (again)

now I realize
that you are my everything and without you here beside me it's like an angel without it's wings and now I realize (i realize)
that you are my everything
now I know it
should've shown it
and now I realize that you are my everything as I sit here contemplating 'bout our love that's slowly fading so insensitive didn't hear you calling out for me...(didn't hear you calling out my name..) if I could change the past I would do everything to show I appreciate you open up your heart let me help you fall in love again my friend, 'cause now I

now I realize
that you are my everything
and without you here beside me
it's like an angel without it's wings (now i) and now I realize
that you are my everything
now I know it
should've shown it
and now I realize
that you are my everything

now I realize
that you are my everything
and without you here beside me it's like an angel without it's wings (like an angel without it's wings) (and now) and now I realize that you are my everything (you are everything) now I know it (now I know it) shouldve shown it (should've shown it)
and now I realize that you are my everything

now I realize
that you are my everything (life without you here beside me) and like an angel without it's wings (oh can't you see that I apologize)
and now I realize that you are my everything
now I know it
should've shown it (your the air that I breathe) and now I realize (the spirit that lives in my soul)
that you are my everything

repeat chorus until fade