

Brighter Colours, Magnolia

The night she took me home
The trees were in full bloom
In the whites of her eyes
There was light and surprise

Magnolia, Magnolia
I know we are, I know we are

And her mouth so pure but vain
Never once spoke my name
We were cold, warm within
In our coats for summer winds

Magnolia, Magnolia
I know we are, I know we are

Magnolia Magnolia
Magnolia Magnolia

As the sun began to pry
At a rosy morning sky
She was gone, and I grinned
Just glad to have been

Magnolia, Magnolia
I know we are, I know we are

Magnolia Magnolia
Magnolia Magnolia
