Bryan Adams, I Will Always Return (Finale)

I hear the wind call your name The sound that leads me home It sparks up the fire - a flame that still burns To you I'll always return I know the road is long but where you are is home Wherever you stay - I'll find a way I'll run like a river - I'll follow the sun I'll fly like an eagle - to where I belong

I can't stand the distance - I can't dream alone I can't wait to see you - Yes I'm on my way home

Now I know it's true My every road leads to you And in the hour of darkness darlin' Your light gets me through

You run like a river - you shine like the sun You fly like an eagle You are the one I've seen every sunset And with all that I've learned Oh it's to you - I will always return
