Bryan Adams, Only The Strong Survive

When the pressure's on and you're all alone Take a little ride into the danger zone When the moon is up and the skies are clear Just show me a sign and we'll be outa here Take me up on a wing and a prayer If you need a friend you know I'll be there

Hound dogs howlin' all through the night Eight miles high and I'm doin' alright Better move over 'cause you're goin' too slow I feel the need for freedom now it's time to go

It's a fine line between pleasure and pain Let your conscience be your guide 'til we meet again

Your time has come - you can stand or you can run But don't keep it all inside Cause you gotta understand that there ain't no second chance No-one gets outa here alive - only the strong survive

Tearin' it up goin' down the track Gonna fly so high, I might never come back If things get tough you can count me in Cause if you play the game you gotta play to win

Take me up where only angels can fly If you need a helpin' hand I won't pass you by

Your time has come - you can stand or you can run But don't keep it all inside Cause you gotta understand that there ain't no second chance No-one gets outa here alive - only the strong survive

[Solo]

Take me up on a wing and a prayer If you need someone you know I'll be there

Your time has come - you can stand or you can run But don't keep it all inside Cause you gotta understand that there ain't no second chance No-one gets outa here alive

Only the strong survive Only the strong survive Well I'm doin' what I can - you gotta understand Only the strong survive
