Building 429, Shadow Of Angels

Sunrise on Sunset Beach Finds me right where I watched it set I spent the night inside myself But I haven't found me yet

But I'm not running from you anymore I'm not running from you anymore, no not anymore

Cause I believe that when I call for you You hear the plea for my rescue And You lift me up above the world I know And I know that when I speak Your name You hear my voice and send your saints To cover me in the shadow of angels

I got caught in the memories Cause they never fail to prove I'm insecure and incomplete It's a stinging point of truth

So I will never find the best of me Until I find myself in You, I'll find myself in You
