

Carter's Chord, Love A Little Bigger

The other day I started watching
A story 'bout starving children
As I drank my four dollar coffee

Kinda felt a little guilty
Looking at the faces on the TV
Made me think about how blessed I am

So I decided that I, I
I'm gonna sing a little louder
Gonna pray a little harder
Gonna run a little faster
Let them know, I'll never want another

Gonna tell my mom I miss her
Gonna learn to never say never
And love, love, love a little bigger

So what is it we really live for
After all we have, we still want more
I think we all could use a wake up call

Single mothers, out of work fathers
Families losing their homes everyday
People's hope in God fading away

So I decided that I, I
I'm gonna sing a little louder
Gonna pray a little harder
Gonna run a little faster
Let them know, I'll never want another

Gonna tell my mom I miss her
Gonna learn to never say never
And love, love, love a little bigger
Love a little bigger

Not gonna judge my sisters
'Cause in His eyes we're all sinners
Gonna write my friend a letter
Learn to keep in touch a little better

Gonna fill my days with laughter
Hold on a little longer
And love, love, love a little bigger
Love, love, love a little bigger
Love a little bigger
