Cathy Dennis, Stupid Fool

All good things have come to end Plans and things you'd once defend Time has pushed that bridge too far Tenderness I have no more Now that I have nothing I realise that everything ends Now that I have nothing I realise what a stupid fool I've been Seas of tears won't help me now Bitter lips have done me proud All my lies have had their day For my tongue I now must pay Now that I have nothing I realise that everything ends Now that I have nothing I realise what a stupid fool I've been Now that I have nothing I realise that everything ends Now that I have nothing I realise what a stupid fool I've been And now that I have nothing I realise that everything ends Now that I have nothing I realise what a stupid fool I've been What a stupid fool I've been