

Celine Dion, Rain, Tax (It

(It's inevitable)
I did not know there was a plan
Somewhere a perfect man
I don't believe in the stars
And then you smiled at my pretence
As you broke down my defenses
Just wanna be where you are
Loving ain't like fashion
The look remains the same
I'll wear your heart forever
'Cause some things never change
Like rain, tax
After lightening the thunder cracks
Sooner or later
It had to come through
Like rain, tax
Weeds grow up through the pavement cracks
You see what I want
What I want is you
Thought our life was logical
Love was a miracle
That happened to someone else not me
Maybe I musta said a little prayer
Suddenly I looked up and you were there
And the rest is history
I don't want to be an island anymore
Just resign yourself
Just there's one thing for sure
Rain, tax
After lightening the thunder cracks
Sooner or later
It had to come through
(It's inevitable)
Like rain, tax
Weeds grow up through the pavement cracks
Do you see what I want
What I want is you
It had to be you
It had to be you
Say you'll be here for ever
You and me here together
(When will you see what I want)
(What I want is you)
What I want is you
Like Rain
(Tax)
(After lightening the thunder blast)
(It's Inevitable)
Sooner or later
It had to come through
(Like Rain)
Rain
(Tax)
Tax
(Weeds grow up through the pavement cracks)
It's inevitable
(Do you see what I want)
(What I want is you)
It's inevitable
Rain
(Tax)
(After lightening the thunder blast)
(It's Inevitable)
If you could see what I want

(It had to come through)
It's inevitable
(Rain, tax)
(Weeds grow up through the pavement cracks)
(It's inevitable)
If you could see what I want
(What I want is you)
(Oh, rain, tax)
