

Cher, Love Enough

Something goes wrong, something goes right
And it either punishes us or strokes our pride
Never stop to think how much we lose
When we pick and choose in our song or two

Something comes up, something goes down
Suddenly you feel you're being pushed around
And just because you think you're losing hold
You try to take control, the story's very old

But if we ever get our minds made up
All we gotta do is love enough
Won't be long before it comes to you
Give it love enough to see it through
All you gotta do is love enough

Someone wants in, someone wants out
But doesn't anybody see beyond the clouds
Cause man you've hardly learned to speak your name
Before you're in this game
But baby all the same

If we ever get our minds made up
All we gotta do is love enough
Won't be long before it comes to you
Give it love enough to pull it through
All you gotta do is love enough

All you really gotta do is love enough
Won't be long before it comes to you
Give it love enough to see it through
All you gotta do is love enough

All you gotta
All you really gotta do is love enough
Won't be long before it comes to you
Give it love enough to pull it through
All you gotta do is love enough
