

Cheryl Lynn, Daybreak (Storybook Children)

Daybreak

How can I ever leave this place beside you?

You were the only one I ever cried to

The night is through

And now it's heartache

I should be home before he sees it's daybreak

Light from the sky is shining through the curtain lace

I never really meant to stay

And now it's daybreak

We were just sitting and talking

Oh, who would have thought we'd be spending the night

Dreading the light of daybreak?

And now it's daybreak

We were like storybook children

Hey, but, like all good fairytale, this one must end

Here is the end it's nearly daybreak

How can I ever leave this place beside you?

You were the only one I ever cried to

The night is through

How can I ever leave?

In the night I'm suppose to leave

But what can I do?

What can I say, what can I do? But pray