Chris De Burgh, Do What You Do

i never knew love was so nice, i never kissed anyone twice, i never wanted a beau; poor me! i just didn't know. you came along, i got a thrill; one kiss from you, i feel it still. now each time you look my way you're gonna hear me say:

come on and do what you do! it seems so new, what you do, it thrills me through, what you do; so do what you do some more! you know i love what you do, keep dreaming of what you do; don't be above what you do, but do what you do some more!

can't get enough of the kisses you throw me, i need a big supply; give me the kisses you owe me. oh, me! oh, my! do i adore what you do? more and more, and more, and more what you do, i'm crazy for what you do, so do what you do some more!
