

Christina Aguilera, Dumb Girls By Lucy Woodward

You broke my heart today
I dont know what to say
I cant feel a thing at all
I did not see it coming
Now you are just a man that got away
I look at the ground and give the sky the middle finger
Something inside says here is a day you should remember so mark it on the wall
I never believed it could happen to me
Something like this only happens to dumb girls
Taking their selves too seriously, I was so damn smart
I was the one girl who never believed that it would happen to me
Something like this only happen to somebody else
I miss you so much I cant stand it
You bring out the blonde in me
Cause Im still hanging on even though you did me wrong
I got the heart to forgive this but Ill never let you know
What kind of girl would put herself in that position
To think that I could ever block the system and I got fooled again
I never believed it could happen to me
Something like this only happens to dumb girls
Taking their selves too seriously, I was so damn smart
I was the one girl who never believed that it would happen to me
Something like this only happen to somebody else
Thought I was strong but I was just dreaming
Kept believing that nothing was wrong
I thought I knew what was going on but love was deceiving
Im just a dumb girl
Dumb, dumb, dumb, dumb girl thats what I am
I cant believe that it happened to me
Something like this only happens to dumb girls
Taking their selves too seriously, I was so damn smart
I was the one girl who never believed that it could happen to me
Cause something like this only happen to somebody else
I cant believe this could happen to me
Cause something like this only happens to somebody else
(I guess Im just a) dumb, dumb, dumb, dumb girl thats what I am
Dumb, dumb, dumb, dumb girl
