

Christina Aguilera, Remember

I remember that time when I first laid eyes on you I looked into your eyes and I knew all my dreams would come true with you then you left last summer and rest of your family and you left me here all alone for the rest of eternity chores it's not easy to move on and it's certainly not easy to be as strong as you'd like to be because you left me here with only one memory how could ya do it how could ya leave knowing what you've done how could stand blaming for what I have done what I have done it was a cold night and I was at home crying over you my friends were there to calm me and I got up and I jumped over the balcony
I .....
I blame you my.... my friends do to it was all....all because of you because you left me to find someone new
