

CHVRCHES, Leave the Trace

I give up on time, just like you said you would
There are tiny cracks that lay underneath me and you
Say I got it wrong, but I tried hard to uncover them
I have somehow left away with everything
Anything you ever did was strictly by design
But you got it wrong, and I'll go anywhere but there

And you have this belief
That you're gonna build what I don't need
And you know I need to feel relief
And I know you'll never fold
But I believe nothing that I'm told
And I know I need to feel relief

I know I need to feel release
Take care to tell it just how as it was
Take care to tell on me for the cause
I know I need to feel release
Take care to bury all that you can
Take care to leave a trace of a man

You show restraint, just like you said we should
You think I'll apologize for things I left behind
But you got it wrong and I'm as sane as I ever was
You took far too much for someone so unkind
I will wipe the salt off of my skin, and I'll admit that I got it wrong
And there is grey between the lines

And you have this belief
That you're gonna build what I don't need
And you know I need to feel relief
And I know you'll never fold
But I believe nothing that I'm told
And you know I need to feel relief

I know I need to feel release
Take care to tell it just how as it was
Take care to tell on me for the cause
I know I need to feel release
Take care to bury all that you can
Take care to leave a trace of a man

I know, I know, I know, I know
I know, I know, I know, I know

I know I need to feel release
Take care to tell it just how as it was
Take care to tell on me for the cause
I know I need to feel release
Take care to bury all that you can
Take care to leave a trace of a man

I know, I know, I know, I know
I know, I know, I know, I know