

Corey Crowder, Tonight Never Happened

I guess I made a mistake
I took your letter the wrong way
I'd take back the things that I said
If I knew they'd out that way.

You never seem to mention
The bitterness intention
Of having you
I have been the lonely one
By myself missing you

Tonight was as if it never had happened
We were connected and nothing else mattered
We were in love
And nothing else mattered at all

Yesterday was cold and I was thinking of leaving
I'd driving until I found a place
That is what I've been dreaming of.

You never seem to mention
The bitterness intention
Of having you
I have been the lonely one
By myself missing you

But tonight was as if it never had happened
We were connected and nothing else mattered
We were in love
And nothing else mattered at all
(x2)

I'll be the first to say
I didn't it'd pan out this way
(x5)
(Tonight was as if it never had happened)
