Crematory, Endless

the wind whispers my name rain drenches my skin the chill suffocates my gasp darkness conceals my scars endless love - endless fall - endless hate - endless call endless love - endless fall - endless hate - endless call fear prevents lowly acts - worriment diminishes secrets proplems in danger of falling into a trap - the game to slake yourself endless love - endless fall - endless hate - endless call let me be your everything - when I'm looking to you let me see you when I'm king - when you are my something thoughts circle and fade away - the heavens soaked in bloodred the stars so far and distant - the power to relinquish

endless love - endless fall - endless hate - endless call let me be your everything - when I'm looking to you let me see you when i'm king - when you are my something

endless love - endless fall - endless hate - endless call endless love - endless fall - endless hate - endless call

skin ripened by many days lies give away hidden feats the torso abused by many metees the birth of a new game let me be your everything - when I'm looking to you let me see you when I'm king - when you are my something endless love - endless fall - endless hate - endless call