

Crepuscle, In the Winds of Glory

Watching from the sidelines as everything falls apart
Like a plague, words of poison quickly spread
A contagion infects the minds weakened by hatred
Idolatry hands the crown to a tyrant
History will not be kind to those who choose to look the other way
It won't be easy but something must be done
Paralyzed by dread of what still lies ahead
And yet in this darkness, embers of hope glow quietly
Waiting for a hero to stoke the flames of revolution
We must unite and prepare to fight for what is right
The heart of a warrior beats inside us all
Destined for victory, we will not fall
Embrace the courage burning within
Stand up and fight for what you believe in
Harmony can't be achieved without bloodshed
Send them to their graves for all that they have done
The frontline is where you stand
Victory is within reach
Resist and reclaim
We will never give in
We will fight until the end
In the winds of glory, our flag will fly high and proudly
Over the defeated as their reign comes to an end
A hero is made of all who dared to take a stand
Now that it's over, a new era can begin
The heart of a warrior beats inside us all
Destined for victory, we will not fall
Embrace the courage burning within
Stand up and fight for what you believe in