

Crosby & Nash, Mama Lion

words and music by Graham Nash 1975 Thin Ice Music (ASCAP)

The horns in the fog could be heard if not seen helping to guide the blind in a dream And down by the seashore, a banquet she gave She was feeding and needing a soul she could save

Mama lion, mama lion, Im starting to sink beneath the sunshine and the icicles
in the things that you think Theres a hole in my destiny
and Im out on the brink
Mama lion, mama lion

She bounces off the boulders, she runs on the rocks Shes taking her time from her grandfather clocks
And over the border, and down on the land Shes living in the future and it lies in her hand

Mama lion, mama lion, Im starting to sink
beneath the sunshine and the icicles
in the things that you think
Theres a hole in my destiny
and Im out on the brink
Mama lion, mama lion

Mama lion, mama lion, Im starting to sink
beneath the sunshine and the icicles
in the things that you think
Theres a hole in my destiny
and Im out on the brink
Mama lion, mama lion

Drums: Russell Kunkel
Bass: Tim Drummond
Slide: David Lindley
Piano: Craig Doerge
Electric guitar corps: Graham Nash, David Crosby, Danny Kootch
Acoustic guitar: Joel Bernstein