

Crushead, Be

the problems seem to break your heart, you feel empty and powerless you're completely beside yourself, suicidal thoughts inside you would like to get some fresh air, but your troubles keep you in chains. after all you miss the time to talk about all this the waters have come up to your neck get out of this pain, give wings to your sadness so you are alive, so you can be leave everything that gives you pain and bring it up to him, you can be again, your problems are blown away and overcome the emptiness will fade away and you will be filled with his love cause he suffers with you and won't let you be alone the emptiness will fade away you finally feel free again, the old is dead and gone and everything will be new you're filled with love again