

Crystal Fighters, Lay Low

Friends, I love you so
It's a matter of time
Before we leave the ones we know

So don't waste your time, no
Live life love and grow
In this paradigm
You might be the next to go

Try and shine your light
Come on and lay it low
Try and make it right
It's time to let it go

No we finally see the water
The reflections all define me
And the love that runs between us
Running through the great unknown
From the tops of the highest mountain
To the depths of the greatest ocean
Our love will surely go

Friends and family
Where would we be without your love
And what a miracle this life is
To be blessed by the laws of the stars above

Try and shine your light
Come on and lay it low
Try and make it right
It's time to let it go

While we shinin' light
Day one to lay-a-low
Try and make it right
One shot let it go

Try and shine your light
Come on and lay it low
Try and make it right
It's time to let it go

No we finally see the water
The reflections all define me
And the love that runs between us
Running through the great unknown
From the tops of the highest mountain
To the depths of the greatest ocean
Our love will surely go