Cursive, Bad Science

Moms and dads break up their gangs, take away their roller skates Give them algebra and trig raisins, dates, or figs But take away the gingerbread and cake

Every husband, every wide, every cop, every teacher everybody do the taking away every law, every curfew, ever Bible-branded textbook watch the kiddies do the breaking away

Moms and dads say, "No more hands no side projects, no solo careers no young love no kissing fish no pets at all no fun and I think we've had enough art, Mr. Marks."

Every molecule, every atom, every single particle down to the quark

Do the breaking apart!

No skateboard no swimming pools until you've finished your state approved chemistry, kid!
Break it down to the electron and quark and please tell us what happens when the particles spark

Every molecule, every atom, every single particle down to the quark

Do the breaking apart!