

Cydonia, Losing My Faith

A scream invades your dream, another crack in the world the rain will bring the dark erasing the smile of life
Have you seen the fear in their eyes? A vision of strife!
No one's coming I'm going away, I'm poisoning my faith

Confused among the nightmares you'll try to fight your...

Pray! Without finding the answers, without seeing your angels Pray! For your damned injustice, for your bloody anger
...Must surrender!... Must surrender!

Staying in chains and praying your Faith... Losing the reason...
It's too late to close the way... too late to start a new day

Wake up from boring peace, the sun shines on your way you cannot reach the joy of a future with no pain
... many words are flying in the wind, can't stop your mind
Night is coming light's fading away, I'm poisoning my faith

Confused among the nightmares you'll try to fight your pain

Staying in chains and praying your Faith...
... Losing the reason It's too late to close the way
Change your fate and your time... Losing the reason...
It's too late to close the way... too late to start a new day

Pray! Without finding the answers. Pray! Without seeing your angels Pray! For your damned injustice. Pray! For your bloody anger
Must surrender! Must surrender!

Staying in chains and praying your Faith...
... Losing the reason It's too late to close the way
Change your fate and your time... Losing the reason...
It's too late to close the way... too late to start a new day