

Darius Rucker, Exodus

She said so, so many times in my life
Once I thought things were fine, it would rain
This is how it is each and everyday I live
Things I thought would be my joy, turn to pain

So when it pours and you're in deep water
And you can't tell the difference from the rain and your tears
I will be the one whos there, who'll always be there
To drink the river flowing from your eyes

Exodus is yours, love
Let the midnight sun disappear
Heaver would be yours, love
Let me be the one to take you there

So don't worry or sweat the small things
Everything in your lives bound to change
All the things you're going through
I will bare the weight with you
There's no shame, know what I'm saying
There's a way to pull through

Oh and when it pours girl and you're in deep water
And you can tell the difference from the rain and your tears
I will be the one whos there, who'll always be there
To drink the river flowing from your eyes

Exodus is yours, love
Let the midnight sun disappear
And Heaven could be yours, love
Let me be the one to take you there

Oh
I'll help you carry it all
(I'll help you carry all)
You don't have to worry at all
(No you don't have to worry)
And if you stumble and fall
(If you sumble and fall)
I'll be there for you

(I'll help you, aw)
"I'll help you carry it all
(You don't have to, aw)
You don't have to worry at all
Girl and if you fall, I'll be there
Through it all, through it all

Exodus is yours, love
Let the midnight sun disappear
And Heaven could be yours, love
Please let me be the one to take you there, there

Exodus is yours, love
Let the midnight sun disappear
And Heaven could be yours, love
Let me be the one to take you there
