

David Byrne, Everyone's In Love With You

I introduce you to my friends
And that's the last I see of you
All the world's discovered my big secret
Everyone's in love with you

They're fascinated by your smile
They copy all the things you do
I wish that you and I could be together, but Everyone's in love with you, yeah
Everyone's in love with you

God gives, God's wise
The way that she smiles
It should be no surprise
At work, at home
I'm introduced to so and so
But you're the one they want to know

I'm jealous and a little proud
I want to kill and kiss you too
You belong to everyone who meets you
Everyone's in love with you

God gives, God takes
Don't misunderstand I'm a satisfied man
So sweet, so strange
I guess I'll never understand the things she does to all my friends

I'm jealous and a little proud
I want to kill and kiss you too
You belong to everyone who meets you
Everyone's in love with you
Everyone's in love with you
