

Death By Stereo, Let Down And Alone

In this time and place
In this day and age
A silent war is waged
For death it knows no age
It is a killing field
For all the pain they feel
All alone
Let them go
We abandon hope
All the pain it brings
Eternal strength

Where is the money spent
No miracles are sent
And all the promises you made
Already came and went
The innocence of child
You raped them all the while
All alone
Let them go
We abandon hope
All the pain it brings
Eternal strength

Down
Let down
And when we die
Sing
We are alone
(we are alone)
We are alone
(we are alone)

I'd like to smash this whole place
And shove it back in your face
And scrape you off my shoe
Just like the shit that coats all your words
And keeps you high on your throne
And pays the mortgage on homes
And feeds the mouths of hungry hookers, fancy cars, and boat homes
You'd better back up the boat
Cause when I'm slitting your throat
You'll finally learn to see that we all die alone
And when you lie in your grave
With all the friends that you've made
You'll finally learn to see you've always been Alone
Alone
Let down, alone
