

Decapitated, Earth Scar

EarthScar

I scarify the earth.

I carve my path with the line of my life - nomad's chosen mark.

I scarify my brain with memories the intensive taste of yesterday's air the breath of freedom the breath of fate distance between million names and places the touch of native life the culture's spell

I'm a man born to settle but with soul born to stray the source of my being the core of this path

I'm praising my army

stronger than death

the sacred art of waiting humble votary time leaks through the days lost in dissolving dates the hour of sacrum

the sacrum of stage

sweet mantra of life the cure that revives!

I morph into the shaman performing the rite trance of the screaming faces the voice of my tribe mellifluous prayer that will never fade here the common rhythm pulsating in our veins

the source of my being

the core of this path

I'm praising my army

stronger than death

I'm digging my Earth scar

step after step against everything I follow my fate

I'm digging my Earth scar

till I dig my grave wherever I'll fall

I'll fall as a fulfilled man