

Delain, Masters Of Destiny

I, I curse the morning star
And I, I curse the moonlit sky

I trace the stars and map the moon until my misery
Its single light up in the sky [?]
I can't escape my destiny
I can't escape

And like a deer, still I stoned on the road
As headlights approach

All of the things we've said and done
All of the things we have begun
All of the things we've said and done
We've said and done, we've said and done

I used to be sure that
It's me who sleeps, but can it be
Somewhere there's a life
That dreams of me
I used to be sure that
I roll the dice but can it be
Eternity
Is playing me

All of the things we've said and done
All of the things we have begun
All of the things we've said and done
We've said and done, we've said and done

Hold on, there's a [?] but There's no one is
Keeping you down
If you don't bow to its will

I am the dreamer
I roll the dice and I'm alive
My hands aren't tied

We are the dreamers
We roll the dice so we have a life
We'll always be
Masters of destiny

Like a deer [?] on the road
Flesh picked on by crows

All of the things we have begun
All of the things we've said and done
We've said and done
All of the things we've said and done
All of the things we have begun
All of the things we've said and done
We've said and done
