

Dermot Kennedy, Blossom

This whole life, you said
Is like a dream that you don't wanna forget
Hold my heart, hold my head
You know I've been your baby since the day that we met
It's alright, alright
Carrying an old soul, young mind
Met the right woman at the right time
So much waiting ahead of us
One life could never be long enough
Got 24-10 in the rearview
That's the type of thing that don't leave you
But I've fallen back in love with the moonlight
Like the first time
This whole life, you said
Is like a dream that you don't wanna forget
Hold my heart, hold my head
You know I've been your baby since the day that we met
It's alright, alright
Whoa-oh, it's alright, alright
Whoa-oh
Bet I'll be a cold soul someday
Guarantee I'll wreck your head in some way
But don't we have a deal that you'll pick me up?
Love's gotta be real when the trouble comes
I can help you smile in the face of fear
I can be your shield when the monster's here
But you gotta be strong for me sometimes
'Til sunrise
This whole life (whole life), you said (you said)
Is like a dream that you don't wanna forget (don't wanna forget)
Hold my heart (my heart), hold my head (my head)
You know I've been your baby since the day that we met
It's alright, alright
Whoa-oh, it's alright, alright
Whoa-oh
If ever there's a summer when we just can't be together
There'll be half of me where light's not getting in
I see that photo I took of you with the blossom tree above you
And I'll just be glad I loved you like I did
This whole life, you said
Is like a dream that you don't wanna forget
Hold my heart, hold my hand
You know I've been your baby since the day that we met
It's alright, alright
Whoa-oh, it's alright, alright
