

Dir En Grey, Dead Tree

No one wants the present

Love, tenderness end peace

Water to the dead tree... You who reflect in the muddy water is no more...
Dream, hope, the ideal I imagined in the sky
Red of passion, you whom I love so much is no more...
The ideal sweeter than candy is mere ideal
No one wants the present

Why? Why? That is repeated, I never be healed again
Why? Why? That is repeated, to my withered heart
Love, tenderness, freedom and peace

Point a finger and good-bye, give the love to the cold muzzle of gun what is pointed at my forehead
This child who is in red coat also hold now what is forced against the will

Why? Why? That is repeated, I never be healed again
Why? Why? That is repeated, to my witered heart...
