

Disturbed, The Curse

Marked for demolition
I'm just a time bomb ticking inside
No hope for the hopeless
I can see the pieces all laid out in front of me

No point even asking why
Couldn't help even if you tried
Step aside or you might just be
The next contestant to feel the brutality

Devastation, obliteration
Are all in the point of exacerbation
There's no explaining my situation now
Why does this shit keep happen to me?

I've held on too long just to let it go now
Will my inner strength get me through it somehow?
Defying the curse that has taken hold
Never surrender, I'll never be overcome

Too dark for forgiveness
I can't seem to do anything right
When I tried to rebuild
I see my humble shelter just fall to the ground again

Object to the evil, I
No point to let anyone try
Take heed, my friend
Lest you be torn asunder like all that's become of me

Decimation, disintegration now
Beyond the point of imagination
There's no explaining my situation now
Why does this shit keep happen to me?

I've held on too long just to let it go now
Will my inner strength get me through it somehow?
Defying the curse that has taken hold
Never surrender, I'll never be overcome

I've held on too long just to let it go now
Will my inner strength get me through it somehow?
Defying the curse that has taken hold
Never surrender, I'll never be overcome
I've held on too long just to let it go now
Will my inner strength get me through it somehow?
Defying the curse that has taken hold
Never surrender, I'll never be overcome