Dolly Parton, Between Us

Let's start by stopping long enough to talk things over Since there's a new love burning between us With open-minded understanding between us Let's both feel free to talk of this new love

Let there be no deep dark secrets between us Let's never hide behind a false disguise Let there be no hidden feelings between us An honest love is a love that will survive

In our love let's share a friendship between us Always close enough to talk things out Let's be honest with ourselves and with each other And our love will never know mistrust or doubt

Let there be no deep dark secrets... An honest love is a love that will survive
