Dolores O'Riordan, I Will Always

And now it's all the same to me So be whatever you want to be And go wherever you need to go And when it all seems like a mistake Take whatever you need to take And leave the rest for my own sake I will always Go beside you You will always Understand And now, it's all the same to me So be whatever you want to be And go wherever you need to go And when there's nothing left behind taken whatever you needed to and leave it all into my mind I will always Go beside you You will always Understand
