

Donald Fagen, I'm Not The Same Without You

Since you've been gone, an awesome change has come about
My life is different now,
I'm not the same without you
I'm evolving at a really astounding rate of speed
Into something way cooler, than what I was before

I feel much stronger than I have in years
My mind is sharp, and my spirit's high
Now people tell me the shape of my face is changing
I've grown an inch tall since July What in the world is going on? Please tell me

Without you, I now have eyes to see some other destiny
A future escape of brighter things of which I belong to her role?

I can hold my breath for a really long time now
I can hold my own
I'm not the same without you

Without you, I now have eyes to see some other destiny
A future escape of brighter things of which I belong to
her role?

Since you've been gone, it's like somebody switched the stars back on
I can see into everybody's heart, and everybody's dreams girl
I don't need sleep anymore,
If I close my eyes, I sleep the sleep of the gods
And no, no, no
I'm not the same without you
I'm not the same without you
I'm not the same without you
I'm not the same without you