

Donkey Punch, Na Na Na

Can you hear me?
Can you hear the words I'm saying to you?
Can you feel the way I feel the way you do?
Could it possibly be true?
Would you know it
If you heard the words I wrote you this song
Maybe you would even like to sing along
Would you know what's going on?
Why should I bother writing words
If they're never even heard by the girl they're meant for?
And the words that I sing just won't mean anything
They could mean so much more
Na na na na na
I can't just tell you
So I put it in a song that you won't hear
The words are vague and my feelings left unclear
I can't explain this fear
I'll try to tell you
I'll try to make you hear the words I'm saying
But it's so hard when the music is playing
So loud, the words don't come out
And I'm still singing my song
Hoping that you'll listen long enough
To hear that it's for you
And even if you don't hear
That I'll always be there
It doesn't mean that it's not true
That's why I sing this song to you