

Donna Summer, People, People

People, people wherever you are wake and listen
it won't take long
people, people wherever you are father wants to hear from you all

It's a shame but it's no tragedy you've been gone much too long can't you see running scared please come back to me

Dieux vous appelle

Callin'
people, people wherever you are
wake and listen
father wants to hear from all you

It's a shame but it's no tragedy
there's still time to get in touch with me

Dieux vous appelle

This bulletin just in another story of a run-away child whose anguished father wants her back home if anyone has any information regarding her whereabouts please call this emergency number 432-8360

She contemplates just for a moment she turns again to get it straight takes the phone and dials the number just in time to hear him say

Call people please call people please call
people please call
people please call
people please call me ooh call me

Dieux vous appelle

father wants you to give him a call
wake and listen it won't take long
people, people wherever you are
