Dragonforce, Fury Of The Storm

We are riding for the battle field in force tonight Fury of the darkest evil cry for war Far beyond the boundaries of hell and starlight On the road to lands unknown forever more

Through the caverns far below our quest will lead us Onwards through the ice and snow forever more Standing fighting full of hate the time has come now Stand and sound the guns of glory cry for war

On wings of glory we will carry on Far across the forgotten lands toward the distant sun And in the darkness shining far beyond the starlight Lightning is striking from the dark dawning shadows And in the kingdom of the everlasting sun When the glory of the master's time has come

Into the fires of forever we will fly through the heavens With the power of the universe we stand strong together Through the force of power, it will soon reach the hour For victory we ride, Fury of the Storm!

We are the chosen ones we cannot fail now Spilling all the blood on the fires below Smashing through the boundaries with the fire and fury Killing all the mortals down the winding road

Hell fires are raging the storm growing strong On the path to victory towards the distant sun And in the darkness shining far beyond the starlight Lightning is striking from the dark dawning shadows And in the kingdom of the everlasting sun When the glory of the master's time has come

Into the fires of forever we will fly through the heavens With the power of the universe we stand strong together Trough the forced of power, it will soon reach the hour For victory we ride, Fury of the Storm!
