

Duff McKagan, Hope

The clowns have come to rest, the Jester's sold his soul,
the world has lost its laugh, human kind is turning cold It's time to say your grace, it's time to call your friends,
Start your laughing instead of crying cause the end is nowhere near...yeah
A man died of fear today, they say he lost way
Time bomb in Central Park, don't go out after dark It's time to say your grace, it's time to call your friends
And start you laughing instead of crying cause the end is nowhere near...yeah Heaven only hopes, heaven only knows, to see her children just laughing,
Not dying for someone's faith Hope is what she gave her love for Fear because she's been alone before Fate so that you'd fight a holy war, I still don't get it heaven only hopes A child was born today, pure innocence of heart Hope bristles from her smile, fate laidens in the dark It's time to say your grace, it's time to call your friends and Start your laughing instead of crying cause the end is nowhere near...yeah
Heaven only hopes, heaven only knows to see Her children just laughing Not dying for someone's faith...dying for someone's faith...dying for someone's faith