

Duxius, Good Move

As if I was in a quiz
or a test
as if I was playing chess I hold on to the illusion
sometimes get lost in confusion I'm looking for a true
or a false
juggling choices like juggling balls I'm scanning for a zero, or one while my conclusions come undone

And I can't make up my mind there's no right path to find
and all that I can achieve is to make a choice and believe the future will prove
was that a
good move

Diagnose my disease
give it a name
show me where I went wrong in the game
what's the equation that I want to resolve
tell me what to look up and whom to consult certainty is the thing that sometimes you can't even hope for in science so don't expect to find it in the chaos of your mind
