

Edenbrigde, Into The Light

when the lake of despair is so serene when the tempest in your heart's breaking in still there is no horizon here through troubled waters I swim the saving sheet-anchor will appear before I'm drowning in rapids near [chorus]

so what if the darkness rules your mind just follow into the light and what if your whole world stays behind it's robbing you of your sight I'll find my way back to the light in the mirror the shades of the pictures fade look behind the charading games they played take those chains here away from me don't pour some oil into the fire shake off the past and you will agree will-o'-the wisps they will be never leading me

[chorus]

don't dream of life just live your dream and use the power of believing I am eternal, into the light I ride into the cosmic force beyond the other side I am a traverler in timea nd I will find my way back into my way back into the light right into the light I ride way back into the light
