Eksperimentoj, Note

a thousand years from now will you know the word to help me keep in soul instead of silence pretending all my life signs of regret no one could see inside me eternaly anything you say anything you want so dont never ever let it go well this is all Ive got nothing else to lose but your whitest heart may beauty all around me cling to the past devour dreams at last through the angel eyes remembered always anything you say anything you want so dont never ever let it go