Eleine, All Shall Burn

Pride can leave you dead inside Rot spread in mind An infection left behind

Cold is your heart that besides Though I am still alive Rose from a grave marked "the deprived"

Hide behind weakened eyes False claims of strife Shall I reveal your crimes? So that the rest can decide Between what's Wrong or right No, I refuse to be deprived

Stand with us, ignore the spineless lies In which they bury us Oh, we have tried to keep Them from betraying us And through their falling screams I hear them begging us Their fate is slowly closing in

All shall burn Burn All shall burn All shall burn this night

Feel a growing pain inside End is night Your blood runs down my smile Embracing lies with hate combined Provideds a fate that has been sighned

Stand with us, ignore the spineless lies In which they bury us
Oh, we have tried to keep
Them from betraying us
And through their falling screams
I hear them begging us
Their fate is slowly closing in

Stand with us, ignore the spineless lies In which they bury us
Oh, we have tried to keep
Them from betraying us
And through their falling screams
I hear them begging us
Their fate is slowly closing in

All shall burn Burn All shall burn Burn