

Element 101, You Never Cease To Amaze Me

You Never Cease To Amaze Me

Where can I find some peace of mind the line that they've drawn is way too fine it isn't mine sometimes the things that we have seen we wish so much that we had never had to see when I sit back and when I am alone I try not to act the way that I was shown just because you don't see the other side of the moon doesn't mean it's not there time travels slow but maybe soon when I'm with you it makes so much sense there is no question that you can't give the answer to you hold my heart and you have given me a start where would I be if you had never loved me? all the special things we can't see with our eyes they're the underlying meanings in our life even though I can't see you with my eyes God you are the meaning in my life